california institute of asian studies
founding message

Man has within his power an unmatched opportunity to create or destroy. As the focus of consciousness in Nature, man aspires to the noblest plane of existence and at the same time threatens civilization with extinction.

In man's present level of development, both of these tendencies have reached a crisis in the mutual discovery of East and West. This encounter can be destructive or creative. There is, however, a crucial shortage of knowledgeable scholars of Eastern thought in the Western nations. It is the purpose of California Institute of Asian Studies to educate men and women who can tap the springs of fruitful dialogue between East and West in general, and between Asia and America in particular.

No other endeavor could be more timely nor more decisive for the inter-cultural understanding of the two hemispheres and for our very survival.

A new world order of peace, freedom and justice can emerge only from the cooperation of East and West on the basis of a new global awareness of man's common destiny. The institute is dedicated to increasing this new awareness.

messages

"The Institute should enjoy continuous growth and increasing success as an educational center of international understanding."
Hon. Ronald Reagan, Governor of California

"The Institute is an outstanding addition to the intellectual world in San Francisco."
Hon. Joseph L. Alioto, Mayor of San Francisco

California Institute of Asian Studies is a superb bridge of understanding between America and Asia. The Golden Gate City of San Francisco is the most logical place for the Institute. I wish there were a post graduate school of this nature in India with such a comprehensive program of course offerings."

His Excellency Ali Yavar Jung
Former Ambassador of India to the United States

"California Institute of Asian Studies is performing a significant role in spreading a new light from Asia in its universal significance."

His Excellency Laksmi K. Jha
Ambassador of India to the United States, 1972

"Central values of life, as emphasized by Confucius, are the spirit of tolerance, dignity of man, and the ability to live with uncertainty. I am glad to see that the California Institute of Asian Studies has the objective of implementing such values."

The Honorable Chao Ding Ha
Consul General of China in San Francisco

TYPE OF INSTITUTION

The California Institute of Asian Studies is a graduate school located in San Francisco, California. The Institute provides facilities for systematic studies in the cultural and spiritual heritage of Asia, and for independent research in the thought patterns and value systems of East and West. The Institute educates and prepares qualified students toward the attainment of the academic degrees of M.A., Ph.D., Th.D. and the diploma of Teacher of Asian Culture.

HISTORY OF THE INSTITUTE

The California Institute of Asian Studies is an outgrowth of the Cultural Integration Fellowship which was founded in San Francisco in 1951 and incorporated in the State of California in 1955 as a non-profit cultural organization. The Institute works in close cooperation with the East-West Research Center, a C.I.F. branch, which has sponsored the publication of several books.

The Institute was formed in San Francisco in April, 1968, as a degree-granting graduate school by fulfilling the requirements of the California State Education Code, Division 21, Section 29007 (a)(3). In February 1971 it fulfilled the requirements of Section 29007.5 of the aforesaid Education Code for the issuance of the diploma of Teacher of Asian Culture. In December, 1971, the Bureau of School Approvals of the California Education Department granted approval of the Institute's course offerings toward the issuance of the diploma "Teacher of Asian Culture."

EDUCATIONAL PHILOSOPHY

There is a great upsurge of interest today in the cultural heritage of the East. This interest grows into a need for systematic studies among all those who are searching for the deeper roots of international understanding. It is being increasingly realized that a serious and fruitful existence. It is being increasingly realized that a serious and fruitful dialogue between America and Asia is essential for the emergence of a new human race — the race of world citizens whose loyalty to the total human welfare would transcend all geographical, national and narrow ethnic boundaries.

We live today in a world of shrinking dimensions. Modern technological conquest of space has brought to the fore the concept of one international human family. All cherished human values such as freedom, justice, peace, prosperity and progress have become indivisible. Asia being the birthplace of the great world religions, and America the birthplace of the highest technological developments of modern times, there is a special reason for a close cultural understanding between the two. It is the philosophy of the Institute to develop and teach the avenues to this inter-cultural understanding.

The evening classes of the Institute are available to all eager to learn and to pursue higher studies along with their daytime jobs. It is believed that education is not only for youth but is a life-long process of learning designed for people of all ages.

The Institute believes that true education is the growth process of the individual’s total personality. Onesided emphasis upon intellectual development or vocational training or social adjustment leaves the total self unfulfilled. So the Institute emphasizes the concept of total self-integration as the guiding principle of the curricular development.

Finally, the development of special research programs relevant to the fundamental needs and issues of the present day is an integral part of the Institute’s educational policy. There is great need for research calculated to build new bridges of understanding, to open new perspectives in world thought, and to devise new techniques for full actualization of the human potential.

Stated briefly, the Institute’s educational policy is shaped by the integral theory of education which implies:

- an integrated value system harmonizing the rationalistic-scientific, socio-economic, political and technological values of the modern west on the one hand, and the intuitive-esthetic, psycho-ontological, and metamotivational values of the traditional east;
- the wholistic view of personality as a body-mind-spirit continuum, and as a continuous process of creative growth;
- the integrated view of life as an evolutionary process of gradual manifestation of the limitless possibilities of being.

UNIQUE FEATURES

1. The California Institute of Asian Studies is the only graduate school of its kind in the United States authorized to grant M.A. and Ph.D. degrees for original research in Asian culture and in comparative studies east and west.

2. The Institute also is the only graduate school where distinguished Asian scholars teach Asian languages and expound the intrinsic significance of their cultural systems including philosophies, religions, social sciences, personality theories, and psychophysical disciplines for self-realization.

   Besides, these Asian scholars, distinguished authorities in their respective fields, have a controlling voice in moulding the educational policy and in guiding curricular development.

3. The Institute promotes unique research programs aimed at optimum personality growth, international understanding, and world peace.

4. Finally, the Institute combines in its educational policy a sense of relevancy to the contemporary issues of life and society with appreciation of universal human values. Such a combination lies at the source of its integral theory of education with its emphasis upon integrated self-development.
SPECIAL EDUCATIONAL FUNCTIONS

The Institute's special educational functions include (1) diversified cultural events, and (2) continuing publication program.

Cultural Events

Cultural events are designed to advance the esthetic enrichment of those who participate and to promote intercultural understanding, an essential condition of world peace. Art exhibits, musical concerts and dance recitals by talented artists are presented throughout the year. In July 1972, the Institute was one of the sponsors of President Richard Nixon’s China trip art exhibit held in Crown Zellerbach Main Lobby.

Every summer the Institute organizes a seminar on the integral worldview and the art of integrated living. Distinguished philosophers and psychologists are invited to participate in the seminar. Also an inter-college essay contest on integral thought is often organized. During August 15-20, 1972, the summer seminar was held in the Palace of Fine Arts and the Lone Mountain College Theatre, San Francisco.

Whenever possible in the fall, the Institute sponsors a conference of world religions with a view to furthering inter-religious understanding, an essential condition of human unity.

Publication Program

The Institute has a long-range plan for publishing original research on world perspectives in philosophy, self-integrative techniques in psychotherapy, unifying concepts in theology, and innovative approaches in methodology. Works already published under this program in collaboration with the East-West Research Center, Cultural Integration Fellowship, include: The Integral Philosophy of Sri Aurobindo: A Symposium, London; Mastering the Problems of Living, New York; Mahatma Gandhi: His Message for Mankind, San Francisco; Integral Yoga: The Concept of Harmonious and Creative Living, London; Philosophy of Integralism. Pondicherry, India; Martin Heidegger and Sri Aurobindo, Pondicherry.

The Institute collaborated with the University of Hawaii in bringing out a special Sri Aurobindo centennial issue of its journal Philosophy East and West, January, 1972. Similarly, it collaborated with Fordham University, Bronx, New York, in publishing a special issue of its journal International Philosophical Quarterly, June, 1972.

MAJOR FIELDS OF STUDY AND RESEARCH FOR DIPLOMA AND DEGREE STUDENTS

The diploma of Teacher of Asian Culture is awarded to students for study and research in Asian culture with major emphasis in any Area Department (Far East, South Asia, or Middle East) or on any subject of Comparative studies.

The degrees of M.A. and Ph.D. are awarded to students for specialized knowledge and original research in any one of the Area Departments along with a broad acquaintance with the general features of Asian culture or in the Department of Interdisciplinary and Comparative studies with major emphasis on any one of the following subjects:

1. Comparative Philosophy
2. Comparative Religion
3. Comparative Psychology
4. Comparative Art
5. Comparative Education
6. Psychosomatic Discipline and Meditation Therapy
7. International Relations

SPECIAL RESEARCH PROGRAMS

The development of intensive research programs relevant to the fundamental needs and issues of the present day is an integral part of the Institute's educational policy.

Specific research projects capable of making significant contributions not only to East-West understanding but also toward the enrichment of life and civilization are in progress.

A degree student may select any of the following research programs, according to his own major line of interest, as the framework for his master’s thesis or doctoral dissertation:

1. Integral Philosophy. (The outlook of evolutionary nondualism.)
2. Integral Psychology. (It includes psychointegration as the ultimate goal of personality growth.)
3. Integral Methodology. (The approach of nondualistic logic and comprehensive empirico-rationalism.)
4. Integral Theory of Education.
7. Psychosomatology and the Human Potential.
10. The Scientific Outlook and Humanistic Religion.
11. International Relations and World Peace.
12. Research in Bilingual and Bicultural Studies.

*Programs are in the process of being set up.
THE INSTITUTE'S DEPARTMENTS

The Institute has four major departments:

1. South Asian Studies (SA)
2. Far Eastern Studies (FE)
3. Middle Eastern Studies (ME)
4. General, Inter-disciplinary and Comparative Studies (GIC)
5. Special Study and Research

A degree student can major in any one of these departments, minorin any other two departments as directed by the advisor.

CURRENT FACILITIES

The Institute is now operating at two centrally located buildings in San Francisco. It also uses the facilities at Lone Mountain College for special functions. Offices of the President, Deans, Registrar and Treasurer are housed at 3494 - 21st Street, San Francisco. Seminar-type classes and research are scheduled at this location.

The main CIAS library and reading room are also located at the above address. There is at present a unique collection of books and periodicals especially suitable for the Institute's program of study and research. There is an audio library of tape recordings of lectures, seminars and music. The Institute students also have access to additional excellent libraries and museums in the San Francisco Bay Area.

The second building is located at 2650 Fulton Street, San Francisco, facing Golden Gate Park.

Large classes, meetings, guest speakers, symposiums and cultural events are scheduled at this location and at the Lone Mountain College.

The CIAS Bookstore is located in both facilities. Books on Asian philosophies, psychological schools, religious trends, socio-political patterns, languages and literatures as well as comparative studies east and west are procured from Asian, European and American publishers for the benefit of students.

ACADEMIC TIES WITH OTHER INSTITUTIONS

In 1971 the Institute established academic ties of cooperation with such fully accredited institutions as Lone Mountain College, San Francisco, and Graduate Theological Union, Berkeley. A program of cross-registration or cross-filing of courses, and exchange of professors is a significant step forward in that direction. Our students can take advantage of the enormously rich libraries of the aforesaid institutions by paying a library fee or by taking some courses there.

REQUIREMENTS FOR DEGREES AND DIPLOMAS

1. Admission to Graduate Studies

For admission as a credit student, or to prepare for candidacy for any diploma or degree, a student must:
1. Have received the Bachelor's degree (or the equivalent as determined by the Graduate Committee) from an accredited institution, with at least a B average in all upper division work at the baccalaureate level.

2. Immediately upon request of the Registrar, submit appropriate scores on the Graduate Record Examinations or other tests (as may be prescribed by the Graduate Committee) as evidence of academic or general competence to pursue graduate-level studies.

3. Submit official transcripts covering all college and university work completed to date.

These documents will be evaluated by the Registrar and/or the Graduate Committee, and if satisfactory, the Registrar will issue a formal letter granting admission to the Institute. Admission does not imply advancement to candidacy for any diploma or degree program.

2. The Grading System

California Institute of Asian Studies has adopted the following scholastic regulations.

The scholarship average is obtained by dividing the total number of grade points by the total number of units for which the student was registered. Grade points are assigned as shown below:

- Grade of "A" receives 4 points per unit of a course taken.
- Grade of "B" receives 3 points per unit of a course taken.
- Grade of "C" receives 2 points per unit of a course taken.
- Grade of "D" receives 1 point per unit of a course taken.
- Grade of "F" receives 0 points per unit of a course taken.

A grade average of "B" or better for all course work taken at California Institute of Asian Studies is required for graduation.

Satisfactory scholarship is thus taken to mean at least a "B" (3.0 point) average.

Transfer students from other colleges and universities are subject immediately to these scholastic regulations.

Probation

A student is placed on scholastic probation whenever his cumulative grade point average is less than 3.0 (2.99 and lower). A student who is placed on probation will be notified by letter of his status and a notice also entered on his permanent Institute record. He will remain on probation until he attains a cumulative 3.0 ("B") average. Students on probation are encouraged to take a reduced scholastic load until the deficiency has been removed.
Dismissal of Students on Disqualification

A student on probation will be dismissed or considered disqualified if, at the end of the second quarter following notification of probation status, he falls below a 2.0 ("C") cumulative grade point average in the total units taken.

A scholastically dismissed or disqualified student will be so informed by letter and notice of his status entered on the Institute's permanent record.

Under normal conditions, any student who has been dismissed shall not be eligible for readmission or reinstatement until one quarter has elapsed after his dismissal.

If extenuating circumstances exist, the Graduate Committee of California Institute of Asian Studies is empowered to make recommendations relating to specific exceptions of this rule, subject to the approval of the Institute President.

Credit by Examination

Credit by examination is authorized by the Board of Governors and is placed in the hands of the Graduate Committee. To become eligible, a student must successfully follow the following procedures:

1. Must have completed a minimum of 15 units at California Institute of Asian Studies with a grade point average of 3.0 ("B") or better, must be in good standing, must be currently registered as a full-time student.

2. Must file for approval a petition to challenge a course by examination from the Administrative Dean.

3. Must furnish strong proof to the satisfaction of the Administrative Dean, his major advisor and the course instructor that his previous background and education will insure a reasonable measure of success.

If the petition is approved by the Administrative Dean, the examination or a series of tests will be administered by the assigned instructor as designated by the Dean. The course, with the units and grade assigned, shall be entered on the student's record in the same way as scheduled courses, after the student has paid the appropriate fee for the course or courses. If the student fails the examination, he may or may not be permitted to repeat it at the discretion of the Administrative Dean and his major advisor.

A maximum of 12 quarter units may be earned for credit by examination for the Ph.D. degree. A maximum of 4 quarter units may be earned for credit by examination for the M.A. degree.

Only those courses listed in the current catalog can be approved, and only in the amount of credit listed. The Administrative Dean shall designate the courses which can be challenged for credit.
Make-Up of Incomplete

A student receiving an incomplete mark during any quarter of registration must make up the incomplete within the next quarter of resident study. If the incomplete was given during a summer session, it must be made up during the next resident quarter or summer session.

3. The Master of Arts Degree

To be admitted to candidacy for this degree, the student must apply not later than the end of November in the academic year in which he proposes to take the degree and then state in which department he wishes to major. A faculty advisor will then be chosen by the Dean in consultation with the student. The advisor will direct the progress of the intended thesis, and assist the student in planning his course of studies throughout the academic year.

If a student with a Bachelor's degree has maintained a B average and has a reasonable background in philosophy, psychology or Asian studies, he will be required to complete at least 45 quarter units of study, research, and thesis writing in order to earn an M.A. degree at the Institute.

If a student with a Bachelor's degree has no background in philosophy, psychology, or Asian studies, he may be provisionally admitted to the M.A. program but required to complete more than 45 units, as required by the Graduate Committee. He may be advanced to M.A. candidacy on maintaining a B average for the first 12 quarter units of study at the Institute.

A student admitted to the M.A. program is permitted to transfer up to 9 relevant quarter units from other graduate schools. He is required to maintain a B average in his courses and shall take no less than two-thirds of his course work in the chosen field.

A reading knowledge of one Asian language is essential for the fulfillment of the institute's requirement for an M.A. degree in an Asian Area Department.

A minimum of 12 units is required in the appropriate language, except in the case of a student who gives evidence by examination that he has already attained the required standard of proficiency.

In all cases, the student must submit an acceptable thesis in the preparation of which 14-18 units of directed study, research and thesis writing shall be allocated. He shall also pass an oral examination on his thesis. Four copies of the thesis conforming to the Institute's standard must be submitted. The first complete draft of the thesis must be submitted to his committee by the end of May for August conferral.

Four units of class work outside of the area of emphasis may be evaluated on a pass/fail system. The thesis also is evaluated on the same basis. The remainder of the course work including directed study and research is evaluated according to the standard grading system.
4. The Teacher of Asian Culture Diploma

With one exception all other regulations relating to the Master of Arts degree govern the granting of the diploma: Teacher of Asian Culture. The exception is that instead of a full-length master's thesis, the candidate must obtain a B average in at least forty units of course work in Asian Studies and submit a short paper (15/20 pages) on the Spirit of Spirit of Asian Culture or any other subject recommended by the Advisor. The paper approved, the candidate has to pass an oral examination arranged by the Dean, as in the case of the M.A. degree.

5. The Doctor of Philosophy Degree

The degree of Doctor of Philosophy is awarded to candidates who have displayed understanding in depth of the subject matter of their chosen field of study as well as the ability to make original contributions.

Upon admission to the Institute, the student plans his course of study in consultation with the Graduate Committee. Upon completion of his course work, the student takes a series of comprehensive examinations. Successful completion of the comprehensive examinations is followed by application for advancement to candidacy before the end of November of the current academic year. An advisor on the staff will then be chosen to advise the candidate in special study and dissertation courses.

The student must have earned the Master's degree from the Institute or from some other recognized institution, or he must have completed one full year of graduate studies in a field allied or preparatory to the work projected for the Ph.D. degree.

A reading knowledge of two foreign languages, of which at least one must be Asian, is essential for the fulfillment of the Institute's requirement for a Ph.D. degree. The student should complete the foreign language as early as possible so that the language skill will be of maximum benefit in his degree program.

For the Ph.D. degree, the student must have completed at least three full years of graduate work, the equivalent of 135 quarter units.

The last year covering at least 45 quarter units must be taken at the Institute. Of these units, 12 to 18 shall be allotted to dissertation writing.

He must submit an acceptable dissertation, on which an oral examination will be held. The dissertation must be accompanied by a 2000-word abstract containing the essential elements of the dissertation. The abstract will be used for the final oral examination. Four copies of the dissertation must be submitted, conforming to the Institute's standards. The first complete draft of the dissertation must be submitted to the committee by the end of May for August conferral.

Twelve units of class work outside of the area of emphasis may be evaluated on a pass/fail system. The dissertation also is evaluated on the same basis. The remainder of the course work including directed study and research is evaluated according to the standard grading system.
COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

Letters and numbers preceding the titles of courses are for precise reference to them.

FE indicates Far Eastern Studies
SA indicates South Asian Studies
ME indicates Middle Eastern Studies
GIC indicates General, Interdisciplinary and Comparative Studies

Courses numbered 400 plus are Asian language offerings intended to fulfill our language requirement.

Courses numbered 500 onward are advanced course offerings for degree programs.

Numbers 600 onward are advanced directed study or seminar work on doctoral programs.

Numbers 700 onward indicate advanced research or dissertation writing on doctoral programs.
